

READING TIPS

FOR PARENTS OF First Graders

Give your child lots of opportunities to read aloud. Inspire your young reader to practice every day! The tips below offer some fun ways you can help your child become a happy and confident reader. Try a new tip each week. See what works best for your child.

■ Don't leave home without it

Bring along a book or magazine any time your child has to wait, such as at a doctor's office. Always try to fit in reading!

■ Once is not enough

Encourage your child to re-read favorite books and poems. Re-reading helps kids read more quickly and accurately.

■ Dig deeper into the story

Ask your child questions about the story you've just read. Say something like, "Why do you think Clifford did that?"

■ Take control of the television

It's difficult for reading to compete with TV and video games. Encourage reading as a free-time activity.

■ Be patient

When your child is trying to sound out an unfamiliar word, give him or her time to do so. Remind to child to look closely at the first letter or letters of the word.

■ Pick books that are at the right level

Help your child pick books that are not too difficult. The aim is to give your child lots of successful reading experiences.

■ Play word games

Have your child sound out the word as you change it from mat to fat to sat; from sat to sag to sap; and from sap to sip.

■ I read to you, you read to me

Take turns reading aloud at bedtime. Kids enjoy this special time with their parents

■ Gently correct your young reader

When your child makes a mistake, gently point out the letters he or she overlooked or read incorrectly. Many beginning readers will guess wildly at a word based on its first letter.

■ Talk, talk, talk!

Talk with your child every day about school and things going on around the house. Sprinkle some interesting words into the conversation, and build on words you've talked about in the past.

■ Write, write, write!

Ask your child to help you write out the grocery list, a thank you note to Grandma, or to keep a journal of special things that happen at home. When writing, encourage your child to use the letter and sound patterns he is learning at school.

Phonemic Awareness Activities

Reading Activities for the Home

- ☐ Play "I Spy" with your child, but instead of giving a color, say, "I spy something that starts with /b/" or "I spy something with these sounds /d/, /ô/, /g/." Have your child do the same.
- ☐ Play a game in which you say a word and your child has to break apart all of the sounds. Ask your child to stretch out a word like dog and he/she can pretend to stretch a word with a rubber band. Your child should say /d/ /ô/ /g/.
- ☐ Play the "Silly Name Game". Replace the first letter of each family member's name with a different letter. For example: Tob for Bob, Watt for Matt, etc.
- ☐ Say a sentence aloud and ask your child to determine how many words were in the sentence.
- ☐ Explain that rhymes are words that sound the same at the end.
 - ☐ Read books containing rhymes over and over again.
 - ☐ As you read, have your child complete the rhyming word at the end of each line.
 - ☐ Orally provide pairs of words that rhyme and pairs that do not rhyme (for example: pan/man, pat/boy). Ask, "Do pan and man rhyme? Why? Do pat and boy rhyme? Why not?"
 - ☐ Prompt your child to produce rhymes. Ask, "Can you tell me a word that rhymes with cake?"
 - ☐ Sing rhyming songs like "Row, Row, Row Your Boat" or "Twinkle, Twinkle, Little Star".

- ☐ Give your child a small car (such as a Matchbox car). Write a three to four letter word on a piece of paper with the letter spaced apart. Have your child drive the car over each letter saying the letter sound. Have your child begin driving the car slowly over the letters and then drive over them again slightly faster. Continue until the word is said at a good rate.
- ☐ To help your child segment (separate) sounds in words:
 - Give your child three to five blocks, beads, bingo chips, or similar items. Say a word and have your child move an object for each sound in the word.
 - Play Head, Shoulders, Knees, and Toes with sounds. Say a word and have your child touch his/her head for the first sound, shoulders for the second sound, and knees for the third, while saying each sound.
 - Jump for Sounds: Say a word and have your child jump for each sound in the word while saying the sound.

Phonics Activities

Reading Activities for the Home

- ☐ Make letter sounds and have your child write the letter or letters that match the sounds.
- ☐ Play word games that connect sounds with syllables and words. (For example, "If the letters 'p-e-n' spell pen, how do you spell hen?")
- ☐ Write letters on cards. Hold up the cards one at a time and have your child say the sounds. (For example, the /d/ sound for the letter d)
- ☐ Teach your child to match the letters in his/her name with the sounds in his/her name.
- ☐ Point out words that begin with the same letter as your child's name. (For example, John and jump)
Talk about how the beginning sounds of the words are alike.
- ☐ Use alphabet books and guessing games to give your child practice in matching letters and sounds. A good example is the game, "I am thinking of something that starts with /t/."
- ☐ Write letters on pieces of paper and put them in a paper bag. Let your child reach into the bag and take out letters. Have your child say the sounds that match the letters.
- ☐ Take a letter and hide it in your hand. Let your child guess in which hand is the letter. Then show the letter and have your child say the letter name and make the sound. (For example, the letter m matches the /m/ sound as in man.)
- ☐ Make letter sounds and ask your child to draw the matching letters in cornmeal or sand.
- ☐ Take egg cartons and put a paper letter in each slot until you have all of the letters in the alphabet in order. Say letter sounds and ask your child to pick out the letters that match those sounds.
- ☐ Building words: Using magnetic letters, make a three-letter word on the refrigerator (cat). Have your child read the word and use it in a sentence. Every day, change one letter to make a new word. Start by changing only the beginning letter (cat, bat, hat, sat, mat, rat, pat). Then change only the ending letter (pat, pal, pad, pan). Finally, change only the middle letter (pan, pen, pin, pun).

- ☐ Making Words: For this game, you will need magnetic letters and three bags. Put half of the consonants into the first bag. Put the vowels into the middle bag, and put the remaining consonants into the last bag. Have your child pull one letter from the first bag. That will be the first letter of his/her word. Then have your child pull from the vowel bag for the second letter of the word and from the other consonant bag for the third letter of the word. Next, the child will read the word and decide if it is a real word or a nonsense word. Take turns, replacing the vowels as needed until there are no more consonants left.
- ☐ Labeling Words: When reading with your child, keep Post-It® notes handy. Every so often, have your child choose one object in the picture and write the word on a Post-It®. Put the note in the book to read each time you come to that page.
- ☐ Practicing Words with Pictures: Choose pictures from a magazine or catalog. Say the name of the picture; have your child say the sound that the picture begins with and the name of that letter.
- ☐ Hunting for Words: Choose a letter and have your child hunt for five items beginning with that letter sound. As each object is found, help your child write the word on a list. For example, if the target sound is m, the child might find and write mop, mat, Mom, money, and microwave.
- ☐ Hints for helping your child sound out words:
 - First Sound: Have your child say the first sound in the word and make a guess based on the picture or surrounding words. Double-check the printed word to see if it matches the child's guess.
 - Sound and Blend: Have your child say each sound separately (sss, aaa, t). This is called sounding it out. Then say the sounds together (sat). This is "blending".
 - Familiar Parts: When your child starts reading longer words, have him notice the parts of the word that he already knows. For example in a word such as presenting, your child may already know the prefix pre-, the word sent, and the word ending -ing.
- ☐ Teach your child to recognize the letters in his or her name.

- ☐ Use magnetic letters to spell words on the refrigerator or to spell names of family members or friends.
- ☐ Discuss how names are similar and different.
- ☐ Recognizing shapes is the beginning of recognizing the features of letters. Have your child sort letters by tall tails, short tails, hooks, humps, and circles. Your child can continue to sort by feature combinations as well (For example: circle and tall tails, hooks and circles, humps and tall tails, etc.)
- ☐ Ask your child to name stores, restaurants, and other places that have signs. This is called environmental print. Have your child cut the images of these signs from bags, take-out containers, and fliers and post them somewhere to make an Environmental Print Word Wall.
- ☐ Ask your child to look through ads to point out things he/she recognizes. Ask if they know any of the letters on the page.
- ☐ Use stores as an opportunity for learning! Ask questions like, “Can you find something that has a letter c? Can you find a word that begins with an m? Can you find something with four letters?” Praise all efforts and keep it like a game.
- ☐ Make alphabet letters out of Play-doh®.
- ☐ Write letters with your finger on your child’s back and have him or her guess the letter. Have your child do the same to you.
- ☐ Play “Memory” or “Go Fish” using alphabet cards.
- ☐ Read alphabet books to your child and eventually ask him/her to name the items on the page that you know he/she can successfully tell you.

Reading Activities for the Home

☐ Repeated Reading: Choose a passage that will not be very difficult for your child. Read the passage aloud to your child, and then read it together, helping your child figure out any tricky words. Next, have your child read the passage to you with a focus on accuracy. Finally, have your child read the passage to you again, paying attention to fluency and expression. The goal is to sound smooth and natural.

☐ Using Different Voices: When reading a familiar story or passage, try having your child use different voices. Read the story in a mouse voice, cowboy voice, or a princess voice. This is another way to do repeated reading, and it adds some fun to reading practice.

☐ Read to Different Audiences: Reading aloud is a way to communicate to an audience. When a reader keeps the audience in mind, he/she knows that his reading must be fluent and expressive. Provide a variety of opportunities for your child to read to an audience. Your child can read to stuffed animals, pets, siblings, neighbors, grandparents—anyone who is willing to listen. This is a good way to show off what was practiced with repeated reading.

☐ Record the Reading: After your child has practiced a passage, have him/her record his/her reading. Once recorded, your child can listen to his/her reading and follow along in the book. Often, he/she will want to record it again and make it even better!

☐ When you read a story, use appropriate expression during dialogue. Encourage your child to mimic your expression. Talk with him/her about what expression means. For example, if the character is excited about going to the park, he/she should sound like that in his/her voice. Encourage your child to repeat key phrases or dialogue.

☐ Recite nursery rhymes and poems to build familiar phrases in speech.

☐ In a repetitive text, ask your child to repeat the familiar phrase with you. For example: For the story, "The House that Jack Built", your child can recite with you "in the house that Jack built."

Fluency Activities—continued

- ☐ Point out punctuation marks that aid expression such as question marks, exclamation points and quotation marks. Demonstrate how your voice changes as you read for each. Only focus on one during a book. Remember it is important to enjoy it first and foremost.
- ☐ Encourage your child to sing favorite songs and repeat favorite lines of songs.
- ☐ Make your own books of favorite songs for your child to practice “reading”. This builds confidence and helps your child identify him/herself as a reader.
- ☐ Say a sentence to your child and ask him/her to repeat it to you. Challenge your child to increase the number of words he/she can repeat. As you say it, put it into meaningful phrases. For example, The boy went/ to the store/ with his mother.
- ☐ Alternate repeating the favorite lines of a poem or nursery rhyme with your child. He/she will mimic your phrasing and expression.

Vocabulary Activities

Reading Activities for the Home

☐ Read Aloud: Continue to read aloud to your child even after he/she is able to read independently. Choose books above your child's level because they are likely to contain broader vocabulary. This way, you are actually teaching him/her new words and how they are used in context.

☐ Preview Words: Before reading to or with your child, scan through the book, choose two words that you think might be interesting or unfamiliar to your child. Tell your child what the words are and what they mean. As you read the book, have your child listen for those words.

☐ Hot Potato (Version 1): Play Hot Potato with synonyms. Choose a word, and then your child has to think of another word that means the same thing. Take turns until neither player can think of another word. For example, you may say, cold, and your child might say, freezing. Then you could say, chilly, and so on. Try the game again with antonyms (opposites).

☐ Hot Potato (Version 2): Play Hot Potato with categories. For younger children, the categories can be simple: pets, clothes, family members. For older children, the categories can be quite complex: the Revolutionary War, astronomy, math terms.

☐ Word Collecting: Have each family member be on the look out for interesting words that they heard that day. At dinner or bedtime, have everyone share the word they collected and tell what they think it means. If the child shares an incorrect meaning, guide him/her to the correct meaning. Try to use some of the words in conversation.

☐ Introduce your child to a variety of experiences to help build background knowledge he/she can use while making sense of print by taking him/her to the park, museums, the zoo, etc.

☐ Discuss opposites (antonyms).

Reading Activities for the Home

- ☐ Discuss positional words such as beside, below, under, over, etc. Make it into a game at dinner by asking your child to place his/her fork in different places in relation to his/her plate. For example, "Put your fork above your plate."
- ☐ Use the language of books such as author, title, illustrator, title page, etc.
- ☐ Discuss ordinal words such as first, last, beginning, middle, etc.
- ☐ Talk about how things are similar/alike as well as how things are different. For example, "How is a dog like a cat? How is a dog different from a cat?"
- ☐ Use a variety of words to describe feelings and emotions. For example, the way your child feels when he/she is happy. You can validate his/her feelings by saying, "I'm so glad you're joyful today! You sure look happy!"
- ☐ Trips to everyday places build vocabulary. Discuss what you are doing and seeing as you are going through the store. For example, "I'm here in the bakery. I can find donuts, cookies, and bread." Ask your child, "What else do you think I can find here?"

- ☐ When you read a book about a topic, ask him/her to tell you all the words related to it. For example, if you read a book about a dog, he/she might say dog, puppies, toy, food, play, or leash. Add other words to help expand upon what he/she says.
- ☐ When you read a book, ask your child to identify categories for words he/she has read. For example, if you read a book about pumpkins, you could put the words pumpkin, leaf, stem, and seeds into a category about the parts of a plant.

Comprehension Activities

GRADES

K-1

Reading Activities for the Home

- ☐ Sequencing Errands: Talk about errands that you will run today. Use sequencing words (sequence, first, next, last, finally, beginning, middle, end) when describing your trip. For example, you might say, "We are going to make three stops. First we will go to the gas station. Next we will go to the bank. Finally, we will go to the grocery store."

- ☐ Every Day Comprehension: Ask your child who, what, when, where, why, how questions about an event in his/her day. For example, if your child attended a party, you could ask, "Who was there? What did you do? When did you have cake? Where did you go? Why did the invitation have dogs on it?" Once your child is comfortable answering these questions about his/her experiences, try asking these question about a book you've read together.

- ☐ Think Aloud: When you read aloud to your child, talk about what you are thinking. It is your opportunity to show your child that reading is more than just figuring out the words. Describe how you feel about what's going on in the book, what you think will happen next, or what you thought about a character's choice.

READING FICTION

- ☐ Before Reading: Point out the title and author. Look at the picture on the cover and ask, "What do you think is going to happen in this story? Why?" This will help your child set a purpose for reading.
- ☐ During Reading: Stop every now and then to ask your child to tell you what has happened so far or what he/she predicts will happen. You might also ask for your child's opinion: "Do you think the character did the right thing? How do you feel about that choice?" Explain any unfamiliar words.
- ☐ After Reading: Ask your child to retell the story from the beginning, and ask for opinions, too: "What was your favorite part? Would you recommend this to a friend?"

READING NONFICTION

- ☐ Before Reading: Point out the title and author. Look at the picture on the cover and ask, "What do you think you will learn about in this book? Why?" This will help your child consider what he/she already knows about the topic. Look at the table of contents. You and your child may choose to read the book cover to cover or go directly to a certain chapter.

K-1

- ☐ During Reading: Don't forget the captions, headings, sidebars, or any other information on the page. Young readers tend to overlook these, so it's a good idea to show that the author includes lots of information in these "extras".
- ☐ After Reading: Ask your child, "What was it mostly about? What do you still want to know? Where could you find out?"

OTHER IDEAS

- ☐ Before your child reads a story, read the title and look at the cover. Ask, "What do you think will happen in the story?"
- ☐ Take a quick "book look" and encourage your child to talk about what he/she thinks about what might happen in the story.
- ☐ As your child reads, ask questions that start with who, what, where, when, why, and how. If your child does not answer with an appropriate response, redirect by saying, "I think you mean a person because it was a "who" question" then restate the question. After you read a few pages, ask "What do you think will happen next?"
- ☐ Ask your child to talk about the beginning, middle and end of the story. You will need to model this several times first.
- ☐ Discuss words related to stories such as characters, problem, and solution. For example, "How did characters of the Three Bears solve the problem of the porridge being too hot?" If the child does not know, show the picture or reread the page.
- ☐ After reading, ask your child, "What was your favorite part? Show me. Why do you like that part?"
- ☐ Ask questions about character traits. Ex: "Which character do you think was kind? Which character was bossy? How do you know?" If your child doesn't know, give your answer. You may need to do this many times before your child can do it. He/she may also "mimic" your answer. Encourage your child's attempts.
- ☐ Encourage deeper thinking by asking, "If the story kept going, what do you think would happen next?"
- ☐ Help your child make connections to his/her life experience while reading. You could say, "Is there anything you read in the story that reminds you of something? The boy who went to the zoo with his family reminds me of when we went to the zoo over the summer. What do you think?"

- ☐ As you are reading, think out loud to your child. Ask questions such as "I wonder why the boy is crying in the picture? Will he find his lost toy?" This demonstrates that reading and comprehension is an active process, not passive.
- ☐ Make puppets to help your child retell a favorite story or use stuffed animals as props to retell a story or part of a favorite story.

The Literacy Team at

[Insert District Name]

is here to support you as you continue to work with your child at home.

Important Literacy Legislation

In 2016, the Michigan Legislature passed the Third Grade Retention Law to ensure that students exit Third Grade reading at or above grade level. This legislation will affect 2016-2017 Kindergarten students by the time they are in Third Grade.

In accordance with this law, and as a means of better informing classroom instruction, districts will be providing K–3 assessments to students across the state. These assessments will identify students who are reading below grade level and in need of intensive reading intervention. They will also provide useful information to help teachers tailor instruction to meet individual student needs, and parents to help work with their child at home.

5 Essential Components of Reading

1 Comprehension

2 Phonemic Awareness

3 Phonics

4 Vocabulary

5 Fluency

Readers are Leaders at:

[Insert District/School Name]

You are your child's first and most important teacher! Studies show that it's vitally important for children to have a good start in reading. What you do at home is what will help your child become a successful, confident reader!

Helping Your Child Become a Successful, Confident, Reader!

Read with your child every day!

Reading every day is crucial for beginning readers! This means during breaks and over the summer, too. Summer Learning Loss is really hard on children. They lose nine weeks or one quarter of progress by not reading in the summer.

Follow the 20-minute rule:

A beginning reader should spend at least 20 minutes a day reading to or with someone.

What if my child gets stuck on words?

Be patient. Don't just tell your child a word that he/she doesn't know. Here are some cues we use in the classroom and during reading interventions. You can remind your child to:

- Look at the pictures for a clue.
- Get your lips ready for the first sound. Don't forget the last sound, too!
- Look for familiar chunks to help figure out the word.
- Can we flip that vowel sound? For example, change from a short "a" sound to a long "a" sound.
- Have your child skip the word and read ahead for clues. Then go back and think about the word again.
- If it's a difficult word, and these strategies don't help, simply supply the word and go on.

What if my child keeps reading words incorrectly?

- Ask your child, "Does that sound right?" "Does that look right?" "Does that make sense?" Then try again!

How can I help my child understand when he/she is reading?

To help your child with comprehension, make sure you always talk about the text before, during, and after reading.

Try this before you read:

- Talk about the title and cover. Make predictions about the text.
- Look through the book together. Talk about how the book is organized. Is it fiction or non-fiction? Is there a table of contents or a glossary to read? Are there any challenging words you already notice and could talk about?

Try this while you read:

- Stop every few pages to ask your child to retell you what they have read so far and to make predictions about what the author may write about next.
- Occasionally, have your child stop and write about what they have read. This will build connections for not only comprehending what they read, but also sounding out words, and creating meaningful sentences and ideas in print.

Try this after you read:

- Have your child compare his/her predictions with what really happened.
- Retell the story, or the fact that they read about.
- Help your child make connections. Did the book remind them of any other book they read, something that happened to them, or something else in the world?

- Were there any new vocabulary words in the book? Discuss what they mean.
- Were there any pictures, graphs, headings, diagrams, etc. that were in the book? Discuss what they show you.
- Discuss what lessons or new ideas this book could teach someone.
- Discuss why the author wrote this book.

How can I help my child read fluently?

To help your child with fluency, remind them that reading aloud should sound like you are talking. It should have flow and expression. Reading with fluency helps the reader bring the book "to life" and to reach deeper meaning.

Try this:

- Pay attention to punctuation. Pause at certain spots (phrasing), and have your voice go up or down (intonation), depending on the end mark.
- Read with expression. If there are quotation marks in this story, have your child practice using different voices. Also, think about how the character is feeling, and make your voice show that.
- Echo read with your child. You read/model a couple of sentences and your child echoes back the sentences. Then switch roles!
- Help your child make connections. Did the book remind them of any other book they read, something that happened to them, or something else in the world?
- Reread! Rereading increases fluency and also deepens comprehension.

So... Read, Read, and Read again with your child every day!
